CATSKILL, New York – NorDutch Technologies, LLC has announced that the Greene County Industrial Development Association (IDA) has contracted with them to provide Application Service Providing (ASP.) The service has been growing since the company opened its doors in February 2004 and continues to grow at a rate of 25% or more per year.

While providing small and medium companies with a virtual IT staff, the ASP service is proven to be the future of growing companies. It eliminates the high costs associated with hiring IT professionals to handle those day to day operations. It also takes care of the expenses most small or medium size companies do not have the capital to spend. These expenses include, disaster recover, backups and enterprise level email services.

Rich Van Etten has spent over 15 years working as a consultant for various size companies and understands the needs and expenses involved in technology. As a small business owner himself, he knows that the best way is not always the cheapest. He realized that small and medium size companies need the technology to grow in what has become a technology driven economy. It is through the growing technology of Citrix, that the ASP service was introduced.
